APPROVAL OF VOLUNTEERS MANIFESTED

Thousands of People Pay Compliment to Members of Company B Who Appeared in Parade

MANY ORGANIZATIONS IN LINE

Immense Crowd Throgs Coliseum And Hears Speeches About Country's Part in the War

People from all over Rush county joined in the patriotic demonstration last night to let the men for Company B, Fourth Indiana Infantry, and the young men of conscription age who today are registering, know that they were standing behind them whatever they were called upon to do for their country.

Thousands of people lined Main street from First to Ninth to watch the parade and the coliseum was packed with people when the program was started about eight-thirty o'clock.

The men of Company B. were frequently referred to in a complimentary way by the speakers and were as many times enthusiastically applauded by the audience. The solemn side of the war in which the United States is engaged was more impressed on the people of Rush county than ever before and many were brought to the realization that Rush county and Indiana is just as much at war as any nation of Europe though this particular county is far removed from the field of conflict.

Company B. made its first public appearance in the parade. The men are still without uniforms but they marched proudly up the street, hailed on every side as the men who did not have to be sent for, but went. The participation of the fraternal orders, the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts and other organizations made the parade one of the biggest demonstrations ever seen here.

The program at the coliseum opened with the singing of "America" by the audience, led by B. F. Miller, and the invocation pronounced by Dr. D. Ira Lambert. E. B. Thomas made a short appeal for the support of the Red Cross and Mrs. Carl F. Beher and Mr. Miller sang, "Tenting Tonight." Lieutenant Dillworth of the regular army urged that every man who can possibly be spared volunteer so he would not have to be sent for. Mrs. Beher sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," the crowd joining in the chorus and the main address of the meeting was delivered by Fred Van Nuys of Indianapolis, who showed the people who can't go to war what they may do to be of assistance to the men who offer their lives. The program closed with the benediction by the Rev. J. T. Aikin.

The parade moved at eight o'clock. Walter Hubbard's, Will Jay's and A. G. Haydon's automobiles, carrying the speakers and committees came first, followed by the city official afoot and the city fire department. Next was the post-office force on foot and the Odd Fellows band. With 76 men in line and Capt. Kiplinger in full uniform at their head, Company B. appeared for the first time on the streets. Half hundred members of the Red Cross, with large Red Crosses on their arms and many banners, marched next and following after

Fund To Buy Company B a Flag Reaches $56.25

The flag fund today for an emblem for Company B reached the sum of $56.25. A. B. Irvin, who started the fund, went out a short time this morning and soon had $35 added to the fund. This is enough to buy the flag, but the more money secured the better the flag and the fund will not be closed for a while. Mr. Irvin believed that the citizens here should show their appreciation of Company B by presenting a flag. For a time the flag fund appeared to be a failure, but the agitation was started again and it is now an assured success.

Nineteen Men Added to Co. B

Estimated at Noon by Captain Kiplinger That Approximately Twenty Were Needed to Raise Unit to War Strength—Proportion of Physically Unfit Large.

IS OUT OF 33 PASS MONDAY

Nineteen men had been added to Company B. by noon today, since Lieutenant Bruner arrived here yesterday morning to conduct the medical examinations.

Captain Kiplinger estimated at noon that approximately twenty more men were needed to raise Company B. to war strength and the campaign was to be continued throughout the day to try and reach the required number. Lieut. Bruner expected to remain here until tonight some time. The company officers had several prospective members in view this morning which they planned to have examined during the day.

The proportion found ineligible because of physical disability was exceptionally large. Out of thirty-three men examined yesterday only fifteen were found to be physically fit. Lieutenant Allan H. Blackledge was at the recruiting headquarters in Main street all day signing up recruits.

REGISTRATION IS WITHOUT INCIDENT

Military Census Passes Off Quietly in Rush County, No Attempt Being Made to Evade Law.

NO TROUBLE IN STATE.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Jesse Eshbach, state conscription officer, this afternoon wired the war department that registration is proceeding smoothly in Indiana and that based on early report the indications are that the registration will be heavier than anticipated.

Registration for the selective service army passed off quietly in Rushville and Rush county today. There was no confusion regarding the workings of the law and as far as could be learned no effort to evade the intentions of the act. No complaints were heard at the clerk's office by the registration board and the board took it that the precinct

DOUBT ABOUT IT REMOVED BY AN ARMY MAN

Captain Coppock, Army Recruiting Agent in Indiana, Says Volunteers Will be Accepted

PAY A BRIEF VISIT HERE

Advantage to Enlisting Now is That Recruit Has Choice of Service—After Draft None

Registering for the selective army today will have no effect on the efforts of the various army divisions in the state to secure additional recruits. This fact was made plain yesterday afternoon by Captain Coppock, in charge of the army recruiting for Indiana, who visited Rushville, while on a tour of the Sixth district, in an effort to stimulate enlisting.

It was pointed out that men can still volunteer their services until actually drafted under the conscription law. There has been some misunderstanding about this and Capt. Coppock set at rest all doubts. The more men Indiana has enlisted by the time the draft is made the smaller the amount to be drafted.

"Indiana has enlisted close to 6,000 men," said Capt. Coppock, "and we are still working hard. The more men she has enlisted the fewer men there will be taken by the draft."

Capt. Coppock pointed out that there was only one branch of the service that is not recruited to full war strength. This is the coast artillery. "The coast artillery service is now closed to enlistments," said the captain, "but we are accepting single men from the ages of 18 to 40 for the regular army."

Captain Coppock has been in the army service twenty-one years. He is a native of Indiana and because of this fact if nothing more he is interested in seeing his state have a record number of enlistments. During his recent work in recruiting 6,000 men Capt. Coppock has had some interesting experiences.

"In all parts of the state," said Capt. Coppock, "there are many men who are afraid to enlist, because they fear crossing the Atlantic. They do not fear the idea of going to France so much as they do the submarine menace and the general fear of the sea. To this class of men we advise going into the cavalry service. Their fear is genuine and is no disgrace. According to present indications, there will be a small unit of cavalry sent abroad. The rest will be kept on the Mexican border and because of this we have recommended this service for the men who are afraid of the sea."

"There is one big advantage to enlisting now and that is that the volunteer can name the kind of service he wants while under the draft there will be no choice."

U. R. K. OF P MEETING

MUTINY AT JOLIET PRISON CONTROLLED

Convicts Set Fire to Illinois Penitentiary Buildings and Three Are Badly Wounded.

GUARD COMPANIES ASSIST

(By United Press.)

Joliet, Ill., June 5.—Mutiny at the Joliet state prison today which resulted in probably fatal injury to three convicts, minor injuries to a score of others and serious injury to two guards, was under control this afternoon.

While there was still fighting inside the prison inclosure, it was gradually dying down and the prison authorities stated that the situation was well in hand.

Fire set by the convicts destroyed the oil and timber house and it was believed that the chapel would be consumed. The other buildings, it was said, would be saved.

The trouble started yesterday after an order was issued declaring that only relatives of the prisoners would be allowed to visit them. It quieted down last night but broke out afresh today. Three companies of Illinois national guard, the fire and police departments aided the prison guards in stamping out the rebellion. Eight hundred prisoners participated

HORSE KNOCKS DOWN TWO WOMEN IN CROWD

Unruly Animal Injures Two Proud Mothers Trying to Catch Glimpses of Sons in Co. B

BOLTS INTO CROWD IN STREET

Two mothers of boys in Company B were out in the middle of the street in the crowd at the corner of Main and Second streets last night, eager to catch a glimpse of their sons as they marched by with their company, when an unruly horse hitched to a buggy knocked them down and severely injured them. The horse was controlled but not until several persons had been knocked down.

The women were Mrs. John Fultz and Mrs. Barrett. Mrs. Fultz sustained a badly bruised hip and Mrs. Barrett was bruised several places on the body. The horse belonged to Parker Willie, who is employed on the Isom Stevens farm. The animal was excited by the noise and bolted into the crowd before anyone could escape. It was remarked by several who saw the accident that it was rather remarkable that someone was not badly hurt. The horse would have trampled Mrs. Fultz but for the help of several men who grabbed the horse's bridle and others who dragged her from under the horse's feet.

MOTORCYCLE AND AN AUTOMOBILE COLLIDE

W. O. Frazee Escapes Injury But Guy (Jude) Rainey and Hubert Moster Are Hurt

LATTER RODE IN A SIDECAR

A collision late yesterday afternoon between an automobile driven by W. O. Frazee and a motorcycle ridden by Guy (Jude) Rainey resulted in badly damaging both machines and painful injuries to Rainey and Hubert (Mooney) Moster, who was riding in the sidecar of the motorcycle. The accident occurred at the intersection of Main and Ninth street. Rainey claims Mr. Frazee "cut the corner" and as a result he could not avoid the accident.

For a time it was thought Moster was seriously hurt but he escaped with some bruises. Moster was carrying a saw and that he was not badly cut was considered remarkable. Rainey was also bruised but the driver of the auto escaped injury.

Mongolia Reaches Port and Crew Tells of Probable Sinking of a German U-Boat

SEVERAL SEEN ON VOYAGE

(By United Press.)

London, June 5.—The American armed liner Mongolia put into a British port today bringing a tale of encountering submarines and with her crew confidently expressing the belief they had sunk one of the enemy subsensibles.

The Mongolia ran into several submarines 225 miles from her port of destination. One submarine was sighted 100 yards distant and immediately the American naval gun was trained on it and a shot fired. Lieut. Seymour, United States navy, in charge of the gun crew, believes the shell found its mark and that the submarine was sunk.

The first two shots from the American guns brought a British destroyer to the Mongolia's assistance.

Three Officials of Modern Appliance Co. Arrive Today to Rush Work on The Building

ONE LOAD MACHINERY HERE

Sales Manager is Enthusiastic About Prospects—1,000 a Month for One Concern Alone

Three officials of the Modern Appliance company arrived today and began plans to rush the work on the new building as much as possible so that the first products of the company could be turned out in Rushville by June 15.

Samuel G. Kuhlen, advertising and sales manager of the company, who was one of the three men who came to see about the progress of the work on the building, said that he was especially anxious to be manufacturing brackets by June 15 because he had promised some jobbers that they could get the first consignment on their orders by that date or soon thereafter. Mr. Kuhlen said he was very anxious to keep his promise because it meant much in their business.

The other two men were W. C. Hollatz, the superintendent and Ed Young in charge of the plating department of the factory. These two men will superintend the placing of the machinery just as soon as it arrives. A car load arrived today, having been shipped from Chicago a week ago last Monday, and the company officials today set about to trace two other cars on the road.

Work on the building has reached such a stage that the machinery can be set whenever it arrives. The roof is on and the steel sash is now being placed in position. The sub floor has been laid and if the machinery is ready to be located before the top is laid, strips will be put down where the machinery will sit.

Mr. Kuhlen is enthusiastic about the prospects of the Modern Appliance company. He says he has an order from Montgomery, Ward and company which calls for an output of one thousand brackets a month. Mr. Kuhlen also says that Sears, Roebuck and company will catalogue the Modern Appliance company bracket the first of August. Although this mail order house has placed no definite order, he expects their business will be bigger than that of the competing mail order house.

The Modern Appliance company has agents also in New York, Dallas, Texas and San Francisco and has just completed a contract with a representative in Toronto. Mr. Kuhlen says that he has a proposition under way now that is so good that he hesitates to mention what it is. If it materializes, he says, it will mean that the factory being erected now will be far too small and that an addition will have to be erected soon after the present home of the company is completed.

That the company is prospering, Mr. Kuhlen cites as proof that last month's business was equal to that of the month before, when a new record month's business was made. In addition, he points out, summer is a dull season.

Mr. Kuhlen thinks the Modern Appliance company has all competitors beaten not only because of the better and more improved product, but because of the better terms they give their jobbers. The offices of the company will be maintained in Chicago for the present, but the headquarters of the concern, of course, will be here in Rushville as soon as the factory starts.

Gary—Walter Noyes is the first one to apply registration for the new conscript army. Noyes registered as a voter, but thought he was registering for the draft and was visibly disappointed.

President Wilson Tells Confederate Veterans Country Must Make Self Government Safe

REGISTRATION DAY THEME

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 5.—"This nation was kept united for the great world purpose it was meant to serve," President Wilson told the United Confederate convention today.

"Love of self-government and liberty by the north and south was the motive of the Civil war," the president said. "This country must now make self-government and liberty safe for mankind."

The significance of registration day was brought home when the president emphasized that the duty to serve and the privilege to serve falls on all alike.

"There is something fine about the spirit of volunteering, but vigor is the spirit of obligation," said the president.

registrars were having no trouble. It has been estimated that the registration would run close to fifty to the precinct. This is about twenty-five per cent of the voting population. Up until noon today most of the precincts in Rushville had passed the thirty mark and the registration may be heavier than was first expected.

The registration places will be kept open until nine o'clock tonight. The conscription board will remain on duty at the clerk's office to receive the returns. The registration little resembled an election as there was no crowd congregated around the polls. In many of the precincts the registrars were the only persons on duty, while a few in the larger precincts had some assistance.

FELL VICTIM TO LAWLESS ELEMENT

Omer Hufferd, Rush County Man, Slugged Because of Activity in Cleaning up Shirley

IS BROTHER OF LOCAL MEN

W. H. Blodgett Tells of Attempts Made to Kill Him by Man Again Turned Loose on Town

How the Rev. Omer Hufferd, a Rush county man, brother of Elmer and Robert Hufferd living south of the city, was slugged and almost killed because of his efforts to stop lawlessness in Shirley, a small town north of Knightstown, is the subject of one of the stories written by W. H. Blodgett in the Indianapolis News about conditions in that town. Blodgett says that Mr. Hufferd, the Rev. Fred Chelan and Roy Ensminger, editor of the Shirley News, were marked for murder but that the attempts in that direction failed. Blodgett describes the attack on the Rev. Mr. Hufferd:

The first victim was Mr. Hufferd and it is regarded as remarkable that he was not killed. And the man who slugged him almost to death was fined for assault and battery and his punishment was remitted by Samuel M. Ralston, then Governor, on a petition signed by some of the county officers including Robert F. Reeves, the prosecuting attorney.

Hufferd had not been out of the hospital a great while. He was weak from an operation, but weak as he was, he was putting up a hard fight against lawlessness. The love of higher things and better days for his home town was in his heart, and he did not hesitate to wage war against all that was mean and worthless. Suspicion that there were “blind tigers” in town was strong, but investigation was difficult and little help came from the county seat.

In this town at that time was one Nove Dudley, a red-faced, harsh-looking individual, who had engaged in many elbow-crooking contests in the saloons and joints of Shirley, and boasted that he was what is termed “a dangerous guy.” As stated in a former dispatch, Hufferd's activities for law and order were offensive personally to the lawless element, which included Dudley. But Dudley was peeved because some one told him to be peeved. He did not care so much personally, but he did not like to see his friends imposed on and he objected to having “booze” shut out of Shirley.

Hufferd was on his way from his home to the postoffice and passed Darley and another man in a doorway. The man pointed to Hufferd and said—well no matter about the words. As Hufferd came from the postoffice Dudley, who had followed him, slugged him viciously. The minister fell to the sidewalk, unconscious, and while he was lying there Dudley kicked and beat him until it looked as if murder would be the result. It was some time before the minister recovered from his injuries. Dudley was indicted for simple assault and battery—not for assault and battery with intent to kill. Judge Sample fined him $50 and gave him 100 days at the state farm.

Dudley was sentenced on September 21, 1916 and on December 19 of the same year Governor Ralston turned him loose. There was filed with the Governor a petition asking for Dudley's pardon. It stated that Dudley had a wife and two children dependent on him.

STRIKE CAUSES TROUBLE

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Judge A. B. Anderson today threatened to send to jail Mayor Jones, members of the council and other city officials of the city administration of Brazil, Ind., unless they enforce the law in connection with the strike of clay workers in that city. The judge declared that the officers were aiding the strikers.

He made the statement at a hearing in which Fred Norton was charged with assault on four strike breakers and two members of the police board with contempt of court in failing to arrest Norton.

Indianapolis—Physicians of this city have arranged to turn over to families of physicians who enlist during the war, one third of the fees collected from patients of the physician in government service.

BOLT HITS SCHOOL HOUSE

A severe rain, lightning and thunder storm passed over Rush county last night, but no damage was done at that time, so far as could be learned today. Yesterday afternoon a bad storm visited Carthage and lightning struck the brick school house. A hole was torn in one corner of the building but the damage was slight. Some county telephones were in “trouble” this morning but before noon they were all working as usual.

CONSTIPATION PILES AND HEMORRHOIDS

A DISCOVERY HAS BEEN MADE THAT IS A BOON TO SUFFERERS OF CONSTIPATION, PILES AND HEMORRHOIDS—IT HAS BENEFITED HUNDREDS—IT WILL BENEFIT YOU.

It is a well known fact that Piles, Hemorrhoids and troubles of that kind, as a rule, have their origin in constipation. Look back to the time you first noticed the disagreeable, painful feeling that pile sufferers know only too well. The bowels were constipated. Cathartics were used almost incessantly.

The origin of constipation can be traced to indigestion in almost every instance. The food, instead of digesting properly, passes out of the stomach in an undigested, non-assimilative condition. In this form it enters the bowels, clogs them and constipates.

A systematic digestion of your food will prevent constipation. Many take cathartics for this trouble, when it would be far better to go to the seat of the trouble, the stomach. Pepsinco, the perfect digestant, is used by thousands and has proven a boon to hundreds of sufferers of constipation, piles and hemorrhoids, because it has been demonstrated to be the only logical method of regulating the bowels.

Pepsinco acts upon the food as it enters the stomach, preparing it for assimilation quickly and surely. It is a well known fact that well digested food will never constipate. It is equally well known that undigested food does constipate, therefore, the logical method of curing constipation is the perfect digestion of the food as it enters the stomach.

If you have Piles; if you have Hemorrhoids; we would suggest that you go at once to the drug store and get a small package of Pepsinco, which will regulate your bowels and cure your piles and hemorrhoids. All druggists carry Pepsinco. It is inexpensive and easy to take.

Senator Watson Right
(Columbus Republican)

The Greensburg Times, a few days ago, had something to say about one of the campaign statements of James E. Watson, now United States Senator from Indiana. The Times recalled that Senator Watson made the declaration in campaign speeches, to the effect that if war should be declared between this country and Germany, nothing would happen. "The kaiser would stand on one side of the ocean and make faces at us," Senator Watson said, "and we would make faces at him. That's all it would amount to."

Whenever a Democratic newspaper sees fit to dig up the past and try to make political capital of it, especially at a time like this, the Republican newspapers are not going to keep quiet. It is perfectly reasonable for them to defend something they did not start.

Senator Watson did make the statement the Times attributes to him. He made it in Columbus and he doubtless made it scores of other places. He made it in connection with an argument for preparedness, for he added, after taking this humorous fling, that the United States could not do anything else. He showed that Germany was too busy to come over here and fight us and he pointed out that we had nothing to fight Germany with.

Senator Watson was right then and in the light of the experience of the past few months, it is strange that a newspaper would deny the assertion he made. When war was declared this country had no army to use in fighting Germany. Neither did it have a navy prepared for such warfare. The country has no army fit for foreign service now or else the army would be in France. Theodore Roosevelt offered to raise a division and take it to the front, but his offer was refused.

The navy department now is represented in European waters by a small fleet of destroyers. The army is represented not at all. General Pershing has been ordered to take troops to France, but the troops are not ready to go. The work of raising a real army in this country had just begun. Today the men of military age will register. From that number a million or so will be drafted. Not one-tenth of one per cent. of this number will have had any military experience. The work of building this fighting machine will have to start at the very beginning and the man will have to be trained in the arts of modern warfare before the government sends them to the trenches. Sending untrained men to the front is the same as committing wholesale murder.

Men for man, gun for gun, aeroplane for aeroplane, and ship for ship, our forces and equipment is as good as can be found in the world. But it is so pitifully small and inadequate. That is what Senator Watson was talking about when he said we would have to stand and make faces at the kaiser.

We shall have to continue to make faces at the kaiser until our troops are enlisted, equipped and trained. This is something that the nation might have known a few years ago, and it is something that Senator Watson and many others had in mind when they went before the people pleading for preparedness and efficiency.

Uses of Liberty Loan

To the American citizen who gives some consideration to features of his investments other than mere money return from them, the uses to which the money raised by the sale of the Liberty Loan Bonds is to be devoted will prove a patriotic inducement to purchase such bonds. A certain dignity attaches to money invested in a high and noble cause.

The Liberty Loan is made by the United States Government to purchase arms and equipment for American soldiers and sailors, food and supplies for the American Army and Navy. The money is to be spent in America for those Americans who are fighting America's battles on land and sea.

Part of the money raised by the sale of Liberty Loan Bonds is to be loaned to our allies; this too is to be extended in America. It is to be spent for food and supplies for the Armies of our allies fighting on our side on the various fronts in Europe. It is America's first contribution towards doing her part in the war we are engaged in.

It is billions for defense in the world-wide war Autocracy is waging against Democracy, but not one cent for tribute.

The government will avoid a lot of future trouble if it clamps the price regulation lid onto every article of home consumption. The farmer, the manufacturer and the laborer should be guaranteed a reasonable and just price for his toil, the consumer should be amply protected against gouging, and the speculator and price booster should be kicked out.

Fight, dig or buy a bond. Each is essential to the welfare of the country at this time.

OUTCLASSED

The Devil sat by the Lake of Fire, On a pile of sulphur kegs; His head was bowed upon his breast, His tail between his legs.

A look of shame was on his face, The sparks dripped from his eyes; He had sent his resignation To the throne up in the skies.

"I'm down and out," the Devil said; He said it with a sob, "There are others that outclass me, And I want to quit my job."

"Hell isn't in it with the land That lies along the Rhine; I'm a Has-Been and a Piker, And, therefore, I resign."

"Those ammunition slingers with Their bloody shot and shell, Know more about damnation Than all theimps of Hell."

"Give my job to Kaiser Wilhelm, And his army of the Rhine, Von Tirpitz or Hindenburg, Or some such child o'mine."

"I hate to leave the old home, The spot I love so well; I feel that I'm not up-to-date In the art of running Hell."

ROOKIES LEARN
TWO BIG LESSONS

Discipline and How to Take Care of Their Bodies Taught in First Three Weeks

NO SPECIALIZED WORK YET

Actual War Work Will Receive Attention From Now on—Units to be Formed Soon

(By United Press.)

Pt. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., June 5.—At the beginning of the third week of three months intensive training for officers for the new army today, the rookies had learned the two great lessons of a soldier: discipline and how to take care of their own bodies. They know the rudiments of the drill, the manual of arms, signalling and have had a few days of target practice.

During the first two weeks a great deal of attention has been given to signalling. The boys put in about every spare minute trying to master the art of waving the flags. When they would line up in long rows, one facing the other, they appeared like great flocks of red and white birds. Working out the theory of learning one thing at a time and learning it well, all the men know perfectly the wig-wag system.

Actual war work will receive greater emphasis from the instructors from now on. More time will be given to target practice, the men spending most of the day on the ranges. Lessons will be given in trench digging, bomb throwing and the use of bayonet.

Specialized work will not start for two weeks yet. Then the officers in training will be divided into infantry and artillery companies and for the next two months, the instructions will deal entirely with work distinctive to these two branches of service.

It has been expected that training would be given to the cavalry also, but recent orders from the war department will probably result in instruction in this branch of the service being discontinued at the camp.

Current Comments
This Is Efficiency
(Chicago Tribune)

If Germany possesses any further ability to shock the sensibilities of mankind it is difficult to conceive what it is to be. We thought when the Lusitania was sunk that represented the extreme limit of brutality. More recently we have seen hospital ships loaded with wounded soldiers, unable to help themselves, sent to the bottom of the ocean.

The ruthless devastation of French territory threw a new light upon the German idea of culture, and the wanton destruction of some of the world's most beautiful cathedrals has still further enlightened us. The moral conditions engendered by the war gave us a little thrill.

But it all pales into insignificance when we read of the calculating manner in which the corpses of the soldier dead are hauled by the train-load to factories where they are converted into glycerine for the manufacture of nitro-glycerine or into lubricating oils, and the poor residue is employed as fertilizer.

Under the skillful manipulation of science, at the behest of war lords, nothing is permitted to go to waste but the souls of the dead and the moans of the dying. All else contributes to the prosecution of the most unholy war that ever scourged the earth.

The most simple and untutored savage respects his dead, not for what he can get out of it, but for what it has meant to him in companionship and love, and the fact that the lifeless clay once housed an immortal soul. Even these have neither the inclination nor the temerity to desecrate the deserted temple.

The shock to the finer sensibilities which the world has suffered at German hands is of itself sufficient crime to damn its authors forever, even if there were no other account to pay.

(By United Press.)
Petrograd, June 5—Forest fires in the Minsk region have already burned over 7,000 acres, destroying three million bushels of wheat and many elevators, according to word received today. The fires are believed to be of incendiary origin.

Whether there was loss of life has not been determined. The workmen and soldiers journey home of the former minister of commerce, pleading with him to withdraw his resignation. He refused.

The workmen and soldiers journey today complained editorially against further issuance of paper money by the government and demanded that all war profits be confiscated.

Forty-nine Knights Templar, in full uniform, made a beautiful appearance. It is the first time members of this lodge participated in a public demonstration, but orders were issued several weeks ago that the old custom could be broken on occasions such as those which are recurring now. The Odd Fellows third degree team twenty-eight strong and in uniform—headed the Odd Fellows division. The Rebekahs had a delegation of twenty-six and members of the Odd Fellows lodge following numbered 66. Next came a small boy's wooden gun company of fourteen members, all carrying their guns proudly. The Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, marched in full dress uniform. Thirty-one of them were at the head of the K. of P. division, followed by twenty-six members of the subordinate lodge. Next came the Knights of Columbus, sixty of them and each carrying a flag. A boys drum corps followed. Fourteen foresters led the Woodmen's division. Each of the thirty-four Elks in line carried a flag. The Red Men had a delegation of twenty-nine and were followed by a score of children carrying an immense flag and the colored drum corps leading a delegation of colored citizens. The Boy Scouts, most of them in the Scout uniform, numbered fifty-four and bringing up the rear were fourteen girls dressed as

"I feel certain," said Mr. Thomas in making an appeal for the Red Cross, "that there never was a meeting here of so full of vital interest to us as a county, as a state and as a nation. We know we are about to organize an army. The army of one million men to be enlisted and organized represents but one per cent of the population of the United States. We are not concerned about them performing their duty. They will do whatever they are called upon to do. What about the other ninety-nine per cent?"

"It is even time enough now for us all to say, 'What can I do?' When you learn the answer you should do it. There is no agency presented in this emergency which can perform the service which the American Red Cross can."

"First of all, when these boys and others answer the call, there is an implied condition between the government and them that we who remain at home shall do what we can. That is why we are here tonight, to say to you (the men of Company B.) that we will go with you and stay with you. How? By enlisting in the Red Cross. It is your solemn and patriotic duty to enlist. If we can't go in person, we can go in spirit. The Red Cross is expecting great things of us because the American Red Cross wants to be prepared better than any nation in the world."

"The Red Cross now has seven or eight hundred thousand dollars worth of supplies ready now for our men. In addition, the American Red Cross is sending supplies to those of our allies who are in the most distress."

"I have never seen an audience," Mr. Thomas said in conclusion, "when we came together with one purpose and for one cause. When we join hands we are invincible and it is only our patriotic duty to join the Red Cross. When you have the opportunity, as you will have it tonight, do not hesitate or say no. Simply answer, 'Here is my dollar; take it as my share'—and it is a mighty small mite for any of us."

"That which we had hoped would never come has happened and is," declared Lieut. Dillworth, in a brief speech on volunteering, "This is not a Mexican fiasco, a South American revolution, but a war in which America stands as the last prop of a civilization it has taken years to build up. Hour by hour atrocities are being committed that we could never conceive of. We are the nation which must stand between the nation which does such things and civilization."

"What are you doing? Think it over. These boys here are giving the last thing a man can give—his life. You have joined the Red Cross you say. Commendable because the Red Cross is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war. You say you have bought a Liberty Bond. Very commendable, indeed, because men can not fight unless clothed, fed and armed. But these things do not win wars. Wars are won with blood—men's blood."

"Have you done your bit? You have not done it unless you have offered your life if it can be spared at home. It is simply a question of whether we have this fight in our own front yard or in the other fellows. If they win now, they will fight our children."

"You have here the nucleus of a fine company. They are under the care of officers you all know, men you respect. The thing for you who can be spared is to join the regular army or Company B. before you are conscripted."

An approaching thunder storm frightened many people away and made it very embarrassing for Mr. VanNuys when he began to speak. He complimented Rush county on its splendid show of patriotism.

"It has been my privilege," he said, "to attend many flag raisings and patriotic meetings in recent weeks, but I have not been at any so inspiring as this."

Mr. VanNuys recalled that it was the unanimous sentiment of the country that no one wanted war and that the government at Washington tried in every way possible to prevent it.

"And now we are engaged in a campaign of patriotism," he continued. "It is of necessity addressed to two classes. You are either an American or you are not an American. There is no middle ground."

Mr. VanNuys spoke briefly of the ways in which all classes of citizens

EFFICIENCY IN SHIPPING ASKED

E.E. Pratt, Chief of U. S. Bureau of Foreign Domestic Commerce, Sends Out Letter

TO TRADE ORGANIZATIONS

Urges Campaign to Bring About Loading and Unloading Cars Due to Shortage

A letter from E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the United States department of commerce, urging greater efficiency in shipping due to the freight car shortage, has been received by A. Bogue, secretary of the Rush County Business Men's association. A local campaign to bring about prompt loading and unloading and other changes are requested in the letter which follows:

The demand for freight cars at the present time is far beyond that of any previous period in our history. When our troops are actually in the field this demand will be greatly increased. The Car Service Commission of the American Railway Association is coordinating the traffic resources of the country in an effort to meet this demand, but it will be unable to do so without the help of all those interested.

It appears that a very large percentage of freight cars are sent out loaded only to the minimum capacity fixed in the tariffs of the carriers, although the maximum safe capacity of the car is in some cases twice this minimum. The bureau believes that a great improvement will follow if this situation is brought to the attention of shippers and others concerned, and it is pointed out to them that unless cars are loaded to the maximum and delays obviated there will not be enough cars to go around, with resulting hardships to all shippers.

You are urged, therefore to inaugurate a campaign in your locality for greater efficiency in freight shipping, including prompt loading and unloading. In such a campaign you may encounter difficulties in certain trades as a result of recognized equivalents in other units or carload lots. In such cases you should consider the advisability of modifying for a limited period, or for all time, these equivalents, many of which were formulated years ago, when the cars in use were considerably smaller than the majority of those in use today.

Should you decide to cooperate with the bureau and start such a campaign, the Bureau will be glad to receive information from time to time regarding the methods employed and the results attained by you. Suggestions as to further steps on the part of the Bureau will also be welcomed.

can serve in this crisis. He referred to the Red Cross and the Liberty Loan bonds. He explained fully the Liberty Loan, what it means, and what the money will be used for. Mr. VanNuys pointed out that only two counties in the state had oversubscribed and that Rush county's apportionment was $337,000, which is eight per cent of the bank resources of the county.

"And the reason your apportionment is so high," he said "is because you have so much money down here in Rush county. But as a native of Rush county, when I go back to Liberty Bond state headquarters tomorrow, I am going to tell them I am satisfied that Rush county will raise her apportionment."

Mr. VanNuys paid many deep compliments to the boys of Company B, and said he hopes the community would do its duty by them.

The stage was elaborately set for the meeting. Bruce Beck and Earl Osborn painted an appropriate background showing on one side the Rush county court house and the camp of Company B. and on the other side a picture of the good ship "Loyalty" and the words "One Nation—One Flag." There was also a picture of Uncle Sam and the words, "I want you."

Lafayette—Work has started on drilling six one-hundred foot wells for the Monon railroad. The company formerly used city water, paying about $8,000 a year for the privilege.

EVERY FARMER

Who is a Business Man—the business man who is a farmer; both need this convenient and easily operated machine, because typewritten letters alone command respectful consideration in the business world.

Letters to customers, stock records, pedigrees—should all be typewritten. Copies of all letters should be kept, as they may be invaluable in the event of dispute or misunderstanding.

You Can Coronatype

much more easily than you can write with a pen or pencil, because the man who works with his hands generally makes a poor penman, but has no difficulty in operating the keys of a typewriter. Your daughter or son can learn Coronatyping and help you with your work. Your wife can use Corona for her correspondence, copying recipes and making labels.

Pretty field daisies added their beauty to the home of Miss Clorene Amos last evening, when she entertained the Tri Kappa sorority. The evening on a whole was spent socially and the hostess served tempting refreshments.

Twenty-nine members of the Psi Iota Xi were present last evening, when the members of the first division entertained the entire sorority in honor of the pledged members, the Misses Helen, Frazee, Mary Louise Bliss, Esther Anderson, Mary Louise Poe and Marie Clark, at the home of Mrs. Fred Arbuckle in West Second street. After supper, the guests enjoyed a theater party at the Princess.

At the meeting of the Coterie club, yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. Raymond Hargrove, at her home in West Seventh street, the full membership, fifteen was in attendance. A short program, including a paper read by Mrs. Hargrove and a discussion of present day events, was concluded by a business meeting, during which officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Bert Trabue; vice-president, Mrs. Helen Pierson; secretary, Mrs. J. The Anderson Daily Bulletin gives a complete description of the wedding of Miss Dorothy Jackson of Anderson, who is well known to a large circle of friends in this city, having made frequent visits here, when she was the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Selman Webb. The wedding was beautiful in its simplicity and is described as follows:

An exceptionally pretty wedding occurred Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jackson, 2001 Main street, when their eldest daughter, Dorothy, was united in marriage to Ralph E. Mpon of Chicago, by Rev. B. F. Brundage, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. As the bridal party entered the ceremony room and approached the altar of palms and ferns, Miss Kate Holliday, at the piano, played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The Presbyterian ring service was read and the bride was given away by her father. For her wedding gown the bride wore georgette crepe of a delicate blue and her flowers were white roses arranged as a shower bouquet.

Following the wedding a bridal breakfast was served and a color effect of pink and white was carried out. Pink and white roses were used in profusion through the house, and festoons of smilax formed a background of greenery.

At noon Mr. and Mrs. Moon left for Chicago, where they will reside and Mrs. Moon wore a traveling costume and hat to match.

The bride graduated from the Anderson high school and afterward took a course of special instruction at the Thomas Training School in Detroit. Since then she has been assistant physical trainer in the public schools of Anderson. She has been popular in Anderson social circles, and has a host of friends in this city. Mr. Moon is engaged in business at Chicago; being connected with the R. R. Donnelly Publishing Company.

Only the relatives and a few intimate friends attended the wedding, and among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Selman Webb of Rushville, Harold Sneed of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lewis, Misses Kate Holliday, Alice Gill, Annabell Fish, Hazel McIntyre, Luella Cooper, Maude Clifford, Anna Glaze, Edith Earp, Margaret Hughes, Nelle Tappan; Messrs. Joe Radabaugh, Will Barton, Canby Wilson, Murval Walker, David Weer; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jackson and daughters, Josephine and Florence.

The last meeting of the Monday Circle of the year was held with Mrs. B. F. Miller, yesterday afternoon at her home in North Morgan street and proved to be one of the most delightful of the series. Twenty-two members entertained fifteen members of the Carey Club of Connersville with a well appointed luncheon. Large bowls of peonies, snapdragons, columbine and garlands of locust blossoms gave the rooms the effect of a spring garden and made a pretty setting for the guests.

The party was favored with an address by Earl Marlatt on "New Poetry." In the talk Mr. Marlatt pointed out that the new poetry was more realistic than the old, and people had to know this before they could fully appreciate our modern poetry. He also said that the new poetry appealed to the mind through the senses rather than the heart. He made a plea for new poetry and urged all to give it an equal chance with the old poetry. He read a poem entitled "War" and "Evangeline," both being very beautiful. Mr. Marlatt complimented Vanchell Lindsey on his work and also read some of his noteworthy poems.

He read some poems by "Emerson Martineau," a so-called new poet, and found they were most favored. When inquiries were made about the "new poet," Mr. Marlatt admitted that the name was fictitious and that he himself had written them. Mrs. Carl F. Behr and B. F. Miller sang two duets and were accompanied on the piano by Miss Norma Smith.

Complimentary to their son Loren's eighth birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Winkler entertained with a dinner party today, at their home in North Jackson street. A large bowl of iris adorned the center of the table. After dinner a candle contest was introduced and the prize winner was given one of Loren's pictures. The guests included Frances and Dorothy Beeraft, Raymond Thorpe and Floyd Route.

TELEGRAPHERS
NEEDED IN ARMY

Central Army Headquarters at Chicago Makes Appeal for Enlistments to Signal Corps

RADIO OPERATORS, LINEMAN

Amateurs as Well as Professional This Branch of Service is Opens to —Good Wages

(By United Press.)

Chicago, June 5.—Telegraphers, radio operators and linemen are needed in "unlimited numbers" by the Signal Enlisted Reserve Corps, Central Army Headquarters announced today. Several companies have been completed throughout the Central Department, but additional units must be recruited immediately to keep Uncle Sam in touch with his first army of 500,000.

This branch of the service is open both amateur and professional operators. Likewise to the man who is, of electrical turn of mind. Electrical engineers, electricians, inside wire men, instrument repairers, etc., will find a special niche where they may continue in the line of work for which they are best adapted.

The amateur radio of Morse operator who has mastered the rudimentary principle of instruments, sending and receiving can, with training be developed into a valuable signalman. The fact that he is an amateur does not disqualify him. The same is true of men who have a smattering of electrical knowledge.

Candidates must not over-state their capabilities, however, when making application for enlistment. In the end they fool none but themselves, when they seek to hoodwink the government as to ability.

Because of its specialized nature, few people have more than a hazy idea just what functions the Signal Corps performs. Many a red-blooded youngster who is fitted for electrical work of some kind, passes up the Signal branch of the service because he believes he can see more real action in the infantry or artillery. When this same young man arrives at the first line trenches he is surprised to find radio and other signalmen already on the job, establishing communication with headquarters somewhere behind the lines. Had not the Marines already copyrighted the slogan, the Signal Corps might well lay claim to "First into action."

In addition to maintaining communication between various major units of a command and between one or more field armies, the signalman oft-times finds himself astride a tree limb close to the enemy, directing artillery fire several miles away. Great effort is made by the sharpshooter to "snipe" enemy signalmen. The rifleman knowing that every signalman put out of action, means the crippling, temporarily at least of one vital source of information to his opponent.

Thrills and opportunity for distinguished service aplenty may be found in the Signal Corps.

The rates of pay in the Signal Enlisted Reserve Corps follow: Master Signal Electrician, $81.00 per month; Sergeant, first class, $51.00; Sergeant, $44.00; Corporal, $36; Horseshoer, $38; Cook, $38; Private, first class, $33; Private, $30. Twenty percent of above scale is added for foreign service.

To enlist in the Signal Enlisted Reserve Corps, the applicant must first communicate with the Office of Department Signal Officer, Chicago, stating plainly his experience and capability. Telegraphers should accompany this letter with an endorsement from an accredited official of a commercial or railroad telegraph department or company. Applicant will then be furnished with credentials for enlistment at any Regular United States Army recruiting office. As soon as enlistment is complete, the recruit may return to his civil life duties, and will be notified when he is required to assemble for active service.

The method of mobilization of the Signal Enlisted Reserve Corps has not been definitely worked out by the War Department, but it is believed enlisted men will be assembled at convenient points, and transported to some centralized station for general instruction. After enlisted recruits have received a course of instruction sufficient to

SUGAR SUPPLY WILL SOON BE EXHAUSTED

Food Administrator Herbert C. Hoover Says It Will Not Last Longer Than October

EFFECT IS UNDETERMINED

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 5—According to information submitted to congress by Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator the sugar supply of the United States will be exhausted by the middle of October as there will be no large shipments to arrive before the middle of December.

"The outlook for sugar is very poor," said Hoover. "The Cuban crop may be a million and a quarter tons below normal. There is a scarcity of sugar owing to the decreased beet sugar production all over Europe."

What effect the sugar shortage will have on America is yet undetermined. The senate finance committee has already decided to encourage domestic sugar production by urging a repeal of that section of the tariff to refund those sugar importers whose product is exported out of this country.

GERMANS HAVE NO
FEAR OF AMERICA

Say War Will Be Over And Indemnity Saddled On The United States Before She's In It

PRISONERS REFLECT VIEW

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(By United Press.)

With the French Armies, June 5—The war will be over and a staggering indemnity saddled on the United States before she knows she is in it—according to the Prussian attitude today.

Prisoners reflect this view. For instance, a typical Prussian officer jeered at me contemptuously today as he stood inside a barbed wire prison fresh from the battle field where the Canadians had mauled his division into scraps.

"Before America starts, we will have starved England, France and Italy into submission and made peace with Russia, leaving you alone in the field," he said.

develop their particular qualifications, promotions will be made to fill the various non-commissioned grades, including Master Signal Electrician, Sergeant first class, sergeant, corporal and private first class, and to grades such as horseshoer and cook.

Additional information may be obtained by addressing Department Signal Officer, Consumers Building, Chicago.

Senreco
The
double-service
tooth paste,
keeps teeth clean AND GUMS HEALTHY.

Keeping the gums healthy and the mouth sweet is very important to health; more teeth are lost through the loosening of the tissue that holds the teeth in place than from decay.

Dental science to-day demands that a tooth paste must keep the gums healthy as well as clean the teeth.

Senreco was formulated to meet this requirement. Hundreds of dentists are prescribing and using Senreco because they have found that it does measure up to that standard.

SENRECO IS A WONDERFUL CLEANSER.

In addition to its remedial properties Senreco is a wonderful cleanser; acts directly on the mucin film, the basis of tartar; leaves the mouth cool and clean-feeling. As some one has expressed it—Senreco gives one a new idea on mouth cleanliness.

Realizing Probabilities

EXPECT TOTAL OF 300,000

Many Employers Let Men Off From Work to Register Although Polls Are Open Tonight

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Men of Indiana between the ages of 21 and 31 registered today, as provided for under the provisions of the selective service act and under the provisions of President Wilson's proclamation.

It was a great deal like election day with the exception that men registered with a more serious manner and a realization of the greater and more far reaching probabilities of registering for war, compared with casting a ballot.

The official holiday was declared. Most companies allowed their men an opportunity during the day to go to the registering places. If they did not the men will have ample opportunity to register as the books will not be closed until 9 o'clock tonight.

The state was expected to register about 300,000 men, although the figures will probably fall considerably short of this number on account of the large number of conscription age who have already enlisted in the National Guard, regular army, or other military service and who are not required to register.

Those officers in training at Ft. Benjamin Harrison of the registration age, were required to sign up the same as other men and provision was made for taking care of them by the Marion county registration board.

Because the registration work had been thoroughly organized through the work of Gov. Goodrich and Jesse Eschbach, state conscription officer little difficulty was anticipated. Anti-registration propaganda has not been distributed in this state to any extent and government authorities were expecting no outbreaks. However, they were amply well prepared to care for any trouble which would arise in the more thickly populated districts.

NO DISORDER IS REPORTED

(By United Press.)

Tokio, June 5.—Japan's determination to keep out of China's internal affairs, at least until there is some outbreak, was emphasized again in official quarters today.

According to word received here, no disorder has attended the cessation of eleven of China's eighteen provinces and the proclamation of a provincial government, although a rebel army was said to be marching towards Peking.

The revolting provinces are those under control of the military chiefs and their strength in men and arms apparently makes the fall of the old government certain.

STRIKERS IN COURT

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Further cases growing out of the labor troubles of the Brazil Clay Products company were heard in federal court before Judge A. B. Anderson today. Those who were arraigned were: Fred Norton, Fred Wagner and Thomas Tiffey, the latter two members of the Police force of Brazil. They were charged with contempt of court. Norton, it is alleged, assaulted four strike breakers at the Clay products company in violation of an injunction issued by Judge Anderson. The patrolmen are charged with failing to do their duty by not arresting Norton.

DRASTIC ACTION URGED IN REPORT

State Commission Recommends to Governor Coal Distributor
Like Food Dictator

RESULT OF INVESTIGATION

Question Arises Whether Coal Operators Discriminate by Selling
Cheaper to Railroads

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Drastic action to relieve the coal shortage in Indiana was recommended to Governor Goodrich by the public service commission today. The commission based its recommendations on a thorough investigation into conditions in the state and suggested plans which the governor might follow to remedy the situation.

It was suggested that the governor might appoint a coal distributor to have similar powers to those of a food dictator.

The commission stated that the price of Indiana coal has advanced from 100 to 400 per cent in six months, but that the wages of the majority of the consumers have not been materially increased.

The report declared there was plenty of coal in the state and plenty of labor to mine it but that coal mine operators complained that there was a car shortage.

In answer to this the commission stated that their investigation developed "beyond all controversy that coal was to be had and on quick delivery if the prices were paid."

Through co-operation with the railroads the car shortage condition is being met by the railroads and several of them are now reporting 100 per cent efficiency in the coal distribution, the report stated.

The cost of coal mining in the state is about $1.50 a ton; but railroads are purchasing their coal for $2 a ton, the report states. It points out that this raises the question whether this is not discrimination against the public in favor of the railroads.

Thousands of People Pay Compliment to Members of Company B Who Appeared in Parade

MANY ORGANIZATIONS IN LINE

Immense Crowd Throngs Coliseum And Hears Speeches About Country's Part in the War

People from all over Rush county joined in the patriotic demonstration last night to let the men for Company B, Fourth Indiana Infantry, and the young men of conscription age who today are registering, know that they were standing behind them whatever they were called upon to do for their country.

Thousands of people lined Main street from First to Ninth to watch the parade and the coliseum was packed with people when the program was started about eight-thirty o'clock.

The men of Company B were frequently referred to in a complimentary way by the speakers and were as many times enthusiastically applauded by the audience. The solemn side of the war in which the United States is engaged was more impressed on the people of Rush county than ever before and many were brought to the realization that Rush county and Indiana is just as much at war as any nation of Europe though this particular county is far removed from the field of conflict.

Company B made its first public appearance in the parade. The men are still without uniforms but they marched proudly up the street, hailed on every side as the men who did not have to be sent for, but went. The participation of the fraternal orders, the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts and other organizations made the parade one of the biggest demonstrations ever seen here.

The program at the coliseum opened with the singing of "America" by the audience, led by B. F. Miller, and the invocation pronounced by Dr. D. Ira Lambert. E. B. Thomas made a short appeal for the support of the Red Cross and Mrs. Carl F. Beher and Mr. Miller sang, "Tenting Tonight." Lieutenant Dillworth of the regular army urged that every man who can possibly be spared volunteer so he would not have to be sent for. Mrs. Beher sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," the crowd joining in the chorus and the main address of the meeting was delivered by Fred Van Noy of Indianapolis, who showed the people who can't go to war what they may do to be of assistance to the men who offer their lives. The program closed with the benediction by the Rev. J. T. Aikin.

The parade moved at eight o'clock. Walter Hubbard's, Will Jay's, and A. G. Haydon's automobiles, carrying the speakers and committees came first, followed by the city official afoot and the city fire department. Next was the post-office force on foot and the Odd Fellows band. With 76 men in line and Capt. Kiplinger in full uniform at their head, Company B appeared for the first time on the streets. Half hundred members of the Red Cross, with large Red Crosses on their arms and many banners, marched next and following after

The flag fund today for an emblem for Company B reached the sum of $56.25. A. B. Irvin, who started the fund, went out a short time this morning and soon had $35 added to the fund. This is enough to buy the flag, but the more money secured the better the flag and the fund will not be closed for a while. Mr. Irvin believed that the citizens here should show their appreciation of Company B by presenting a flag. For a time the flag fund appeared to be a failure, but the agitation was started again and it is now an assured success.

Nineteen Men
Added to Co. B

Estimated at Noon by Captain Kiplinger That Approximately Twenty Were Needed to Raise Unit to War Strength—Proportion of Physically Unfit Large.

16 OUT OF 33 PASS MONDAY

Nineteen men had been added to Company B by noon today, since Lieutenant Bruner arrived here yesterday morning to conduct the medical examinations.

Captain Kiplinger estimated at noon that approximately twenty more men were needed to raise Company B to war strength and the campaign was to be continued throughout the day to try and reach the required number. Lieut. Bruner expected to remain here until tonight some time. The company officers had several prospective members in view this morning which they planned to have examined during the day.

The proportion found ineligible because of physical disability was exceptionally large. Out of thirty-three men examined yesterday only fifteen were found to be physically fit. Lieutenant Allan H. Blackledge was at the recruiting headquarters in Main street all day signing up recruits.

NO TROUBLE IN STATE.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Jesse Eschbach, state conscription officer, this afternoon wired the war department that registration is proceeding smoothly in Indiana and that based on early report the indications are that the registration will be heavier than anticipated.

Registration for the selective service army passed off quietly in Rushville and Rush county today. There was no confusion regarding the workings of the law and as far as could be learned no effort to evade the intentions of the act. No complaints were heard at the clerk's office by the registration board and the board took it that the precinct

PAY A BRIEF VISIT HERE

Advantage to Enlisting Now is That Recruit Has Choice of Service—After Draft None

Registering for the selective army today will have no effect on the efforts of the various army divisions in the state to secure additional recruits. This fact was made plain yesterday afternoon by Captain Coppock, in charge of the army recruiting for Indiana, who visited Rushville, while on a tour of the Sixth district, in an effort to stimulate enlisting.

It was pointed out that men can still volunteer their services until actually drafted under the conscription law. There has been some misunderstanding about this and Capt. Coppock set at rest all doubts. The more men Indiana has enlisted by the time the draft is made the smaller the amount to be drafted.

"Indiana has enlisted close to 6,000 men," said Capt. Coppock, "and we are still working hard. The more men she has enlisted the fewer men there will be taken by the draft."

Capt. Coppock pointed out that there was only one branch of the service that is not recruited to full war strength. This is the coast artillery. "The coast artillery service is now closed to enlistments," said the captain, "but we are accepting single men from the ages of 18 to 40 for the regular army."

Captain Coppock has been in the army service twenty-one years. He is a native of Indiana and because of this fact if nothing more he is interested in seeing his state have a record number of enlistments. During his recent work in recruiting 6,000 men Capt. Coppock has had some interesting experiences.

"In all parts of the state," said Capt. Coppock, "there are many men who are afraid to enlist, because they fear crossing the Atlantic. They do not fear the idea of going to France so much as they do the submarine menace and the general fear of the sea. To this class of men we advise going into the cavalry service. Their fear is genuine and is no disgrace. According to present indications, there will be a small unit of cavalry sent abroad. The rest will be kept on the Mexican border and because of this we have recommended this service for the men who are afraid of the sea."

"There is one big advantage to enlisting now and that is that the volunteer can name the kind of service he wants while under the draft there will be no choice."

MUTINY AT JOLIET
PRISON CONTROLLED

Convicts Set Fire to Illinois Penitentiary Buildings and Three Are Badly Wounded.

GUARD COMPANIES ASSIST

(By United Press.)

Joliet, Ill., June 5.—Mutiny at the Joliet state prison today which resulted in probably fatal injury to three convicts, minor injuries to a score of others and serious injury to two guards, was under control this afternoon.

While there was still fighting inside the prison inclosure, it was gradually dying down and the prison authorities stated that the situation was well in hand.

Fire set by the convicts destroyed the oil and timber house and it was believed that the chapel would be consumed. The other buildings, it was said, would be saved.

The trouble started yesterday after an order was issued declaring that only relatives of the prisoners would be allowed to visit them. It quieted down last night but broke out afresh today. Three companies of Illinois national guard, the fire and police departments aided the prison guards in stamping out the rebellion. Eight hundred prisoners participated.

The first two shots from the American guns brought a British destroyer to the Mongolia's assistance.

BOLTS INTO CROWD IN STREET

Two mothers of boys in Company B were out in the middle of the street in the crowd at the corner of Main and Second streets last night, eager to catch a glimpse of their sons as they marched by with their company, when an unruly horse hitched to a buggy knocked them down and severely injured them. The horse was controlled but not until several persons had been knocked down.

The women were Mrs. John Fultz and Mrs. Barrett. Mrs. Fultz sustained a badly bruised hip and Mrs. Barrett was bruised several places on the body. The horse belonged to Parker Willie, who is employed on the Isom Stevens farm. The animal was excited by the noise and bolted into the crowd before anyone could escape. It was remarked by several who saw the accident that it was rather remarkable that someone was not badly hurt. The horse would have trampled Mrs. Fultz but for the help of several men who grabbed the horse's bridle and others who dragged her from under the horse's feet.

W. O. Frazee Escapes Injury But Guy (Jude) Rainey and Hubert Mosier Are Hurt

LATTER RODE IN A SIDECAR

A collision late yesterday afternoon between an automobile driven by W. O. Frazee and a motorcycle ridden by Guy (Jude) Rainey resulted in badly damaging both machines and painful injuries to Rainey and Hubert (Mooney) Mosier, who was riding in the sidecar of the motorcycle. The accident occurred at the intersection of Main and Ninth street. Rainey claims Mr. Frazee "cut the corner" and as a result he could not avoid the accident.

For a time it was thought Mosier was seriously hurt but he escaped with some bruises. Mosier was carrying a saw and that he was not badly cut was considered remarkable. Rainey was also bruised but the driver of the auto escaped injury.

Mongolia Reaches Port and Crew Tells of Probable Sinking of a German U-Boat

SEVERAL SEEN ON VOYAGE

(By United Press.)

London, June 5.—The American armed liner Mongolia put into a British port today bringing a tale of encountering submarines and with her crew confidently expressing the belief they had sunk one of the enemy submarines.

The Mongolia ran into several submarines 225 miles from her port of destination. One submarine was sighted 100 yards distant and immediately the American naval gun was trained on it and a shot fired. Lieut. Seymour, United States navy, in charge of the gun crew, believes the shell found its mark and that the submarine was sunk.

The first two shots from the American guns brought a British destroyer to the Mongolia's assistance.

Three Officials of Modern Appliance Co. Arrive Today to Rush Work on The Building

ONE LOAD MACHINERY HERE

Sales Manager is Enthusiastic About Prospects—1,000 a Month for One Concern Alone

Three officials of the Modern Appliance company arrived today and began plans to rush the work on the new building as much as possible so that the first products of the company could be turned out in Rushville by June 15.

Samuel G. Kuhlen, advertising and sales manager of the company, who was one of the three men who came to see about the progress of the work on the building, said that he was especially anxious to be manufacturing brackets by June 15 because he had promised some jobbers that they could get the first consignment on their orders by that date or soon thereafter. Mr. Kuhlen said he was very anxious to keep his promise because it meant much in their business.

The other two men were W. C. Hollatz, the superintendent and Ed Young in charge of the plating department of the factory. These two men will superintend the placing of the machinery just as soon as it arrives. A car load arrived today, having been shipped from Chicago a week ago last Monday, and the company officials today set about to trace two other cars on the road.

Work on the building has reached such a stage that the machinery can be set whenever it arrives. The roof is on and the steel sash is now being placed in position. The sub floor has been laid and if the machinery is ready to be located before the top is laid, strips will be put down where the machinery will sit.

Mr. Kuhlen is enthusiastic about the prospects of the Modern Appliance company. He says he has an order from Montgomery, Ward and company which calls for an output of one thousand brackets a month. Mr. Kuhlen also says that Sears, Roebuck and company will catalogue the Modern Appliance company bracket the first of August. Although this mail order house has placed no definite order, he expects their business will be bigger than that of the competing mail order house.

The Modern Appliance company has agents also in New York, Dallas, Texas and San Francisco and has just completed a contract with a representative in Toronto. Mr. Kuhlen says that he has a proposition under way now that is so good that he hesitates to mention what it is. If it materializes, he says, it will mean that the factory being erected now will be far too small and that an addition will have to be erected soon after the present home of the company is completed.

That the company is prospering, Mr. Kuhlen cites as proof that last month's business was equal to that of the month before, when a new record month's business was made. In addition, he points out, summer is a dull season.

Mr. Kuhlen thinks the Modern Appliance company has all competitors beaten not only because of the better and more improved product, but because of the better terms they give their jobbers. The offices of the company will be maintained in Chicago for the present, but the headquarters of the concern, of course, will be here in Rushville as soon as the factory starts.

Gary—Walter Noyes is the first one to apply registration for the new conscript army. Noyes registered as a voter, but thought he was registering for the draft and was visibly disappointed.

President Wilson Tells Confederate Veterans Country Must Make Self Government Safe

REGISTRATION DAY THEME

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 5.—"This nation was kept united for the great world purpose it was meant to serve," President Wilson told the United Confederate convention today.

"Love of self-government and liberty by the north and south was the motive of the Civil war," the president said. "This country must now make self-government and liberty safe for mankind."

The significance of registration day was brought home when the president emphasized that the duty to serve and the privilege to serve falls on all alike.

"There is something fine about the spirit of volunteering, but vigor is the spirit of obligation," said the president.

registrars were having no trouble. It has been estimated that the registration would run close to fifty to the precinct. This is about twenty-five per cent of the voting population. Up until noon today most of the precincts in Rushville had passed the thirty mark and the registration may be heavier than was first expected.

The registration places will be kept open until nine o'clock tonight. The conscription board will remain on duty at the clerk's office to receive the returns. The registration little resembled an election as there was no crowd congregated around the polls. In many of the precincts the registrars were the only persons on duty, while a few in the larger precincts had some assistance.

FELL VICTIM TO LAWLESS ELEMENT

Omer Hufferd, Rush County Man, Slugged Because of Activity in Cleaning up Shirley

IS BROTHER OF LOCAL MEN

W. H. Blodgett Tells of Attempts Made to Kill Him by Man Again Turned Loose on Town

How the Rev. Omer Hufferd, a Rush county man, brother of Elmer and Robert Hufferd living south of the city, was slugged and almost killed because of his efforts to stop lawlessness in Shirley, a small town north of Knightstown, is the subject of one of the stories written by W. H. Blodgett in the Indianapolis News about conditions in that town. Blodgett says that Mr. Hufferd, the Rev. Fred Chelan and Roy Ensminger, editor of the Shirley News, were marked for murder but that the attempts in that direction failed. Blodgett describes the attack on the Rev. Mr. Hufferd:

The first victim was Mr. Hufferd and it is regarded as remarkable that he was not killed. And the man who slugged him almost to death was fined for assault and battery and his punishment was remitted by Samuel M. Ralston, then Governor, on a petition signed by some of the county officers including Robert F. Reeves, the prosecuting attorney.

Hufferd had not been out of the hospital a great while. He was weak from an operation, but weak as he was, he was putting up a hard fight against lawlessness. The love of higher things and better days for his home town was in his heart, and he did not hesitate to wage war against all that was mean and worthless. Suspicion that there were "blind tigers" in town was strong, but investigation was difficult and little help came from the county seat.

In this town at that time was one Nove Dudley, a red-faced, harsh-looking individual, who had engaged in many elbow-crooking contests in the saloons and joints of Shirley, and boasted that he was what is termed "a dangerous guy." As stated in a former dispatch, Hufferd's activities for law and order were offensive personally to the lawless element, which included Dudley. But Dudley was peeved because some one told him to be peeved. He did not care so much personally, but he did not like to see his friends imposed on and he objected to having "booze" shut out of Shirley.

Hufferd was on his way from his home to the postoffice, and passed Dudley and another man in a doorway. The man pointed to Hufferd and said—well no matter about the words. As Hufferd came from the postoffice Dudley, who had followed him, slugged him viciously. The minister fell to the sidewalk, unconscious, and while he was lying there Dudley kicked and beat him until it looked as if murder would be the result. It was some time before the minister recovered from his injuries. Dudley was indicted for simple assault and battery—not for assault and battery with intent to kill. Judge Sample fined him $50 and gave him 100 days at the state farm.

Dudley was sentenced on September 21, 1916 and on December 19 of the same year Governor Ralston turned him loose. There was fled with the Governor, a petition asking for Dudley's pardon. It stated that Dudley had a wife and two children dependent on him.

CONSTIPATION PILES AND HEMORRHOIDS

A DISCOVERY HAS BEEN MADE THAT IS A BOON TO SUFFERERS OF CONSTIPATION, PILES AND HEMORRHOIDS—IT HAS BENEFITED HUNDREDS—IT WILL BENEFIT YOU.

It is a well known fact that Piles, Hemorrhoids and troubles of that kind, as a rule, have their origin in constipation. Look back to the time you first noticed the disagreeable, painful feeling that pile sufferers know only too well. The bowels were constipated. Cathartics were used almost incessantly.

The origin of constipation can be traced to indigestion in almost every instance. The food, instead of digesting properly, passes out of the stomach in an undigested, non-assimilative condition. In this form it enters the bowels, clogs them and constipates.

A systematic digestion of your food will prevent constipation. Many take cathartics for this trouble, when it would be far better to go to the seat of the trouble, the stomach. Pepsinco, the perfect digestant, is used by thousands and has proven a boon to hundreds of sufferers of constipation, piles and hemorrhoids, because it has been demonstrated to be the only logical method of regulating the bowels.

Pepsinco acts upon the food as it enters the stomach, preparing it for assimilation quickly and surely. It is a well known fact that well digested food will never constipate. It is equally well known that undigested food does constipate, therefore, the logical method of curing constipation is the perfect digestion of the food as it enters the stomach.

If you have Piles; if you have Hemorrhoids; we would suggest that you go at once to the drug store and get a small package of Pepsinco, which will regulate your bowels and cure your piles and hemorrhoids. All druggists carry Pepsinco. It is inexpensive and easy to take.

Senator Watson Right (Columbus Republican)

The Greensburg Times, a few days ago, had something to say about one of the campaign statements of James E. Watson, now United States Senator from Indiana. The Times recalled that Senator Watson made the declaration in campaign speeches, to the effect that if war should be declared between this country and Germany, nothing would happen. "The kaiser would stand on one side of the ocean and make faces at us," Senator Watson said, "and we would make faces at him. That's all it would amount to."

Whenever a Democratic newspaper sees fit to dig up the past and try to make political capital of it, especially at a time like this, the Republican newspapers are not going to keep quiet. It is perfectly reasonable for them to defend something they did not start.

Senator Watson did make the statement the Times attributes to him. He made it in Columbus and he doubtless made it scores of other places. He made it in connection with an argument for preparedness, for he added, after taking this humorous fling, that the United States could not do anything else. He showed that Germany was too busy to come over here and fight us and he pointed out that we had nothing to fight Germany with.

Senator Watson was right then and in the light of the experience of the past few months, it is strange that a newspaper would deny the assertion he made. When war was declared this country had no army to use in fighting Germany. Neither did it have a navy prepared for such warfare. The country has no army fit for foreign service now or else the army would be in France. Theodore Roosevelt offered to raise a division and take it to the front, but his offer was refused.

The navy department now is represented in European waters by a small fleet of destroyers. The army is represented not at all. General Pershing has been ordered to take troops to France, but the troops are not ready to go. The work of raising a real army in this country had just begun. Today the men of military age will register. From that number a million or so will be drafted. Not one-tenth of one per cent. of this number will have had any military experience. The work of building this fighting machine will have to start at the very beginning and the map will have to be trained in the arts of modern warfare before the government sends them to the trenches. Sending untrained men to the front is the same as committing wholesale murder.

Men for man, gun for gun, aeroplane for aeroplane, and ship for ship, our forces and equipment is as good as can be found in the world. But it is so pitifully small and inadequate. That is what Senator Watson was talking about when he said we would have to stand and make faces at the kaiser.

We shall have to continue to make faces at the kaiser until our troops are enlisted, equipped and trained. This is something that the nation might have known a few years ago, and it is something that Senator Watson and many others had in mind when they went before the people pleading for preparedness and efficiency.

Uses of Liberty Loan

To the American citizen who gives some consideration to features of his investments other than mere money return from them, the uses to which the money raised by the sale of the Liberty Loan Bonds is to be devoted will prove a patriotic inducement to purchase such bonds. A certain dignity attaches to money invested in a high and noble cause.

The Liberty Loan is made by the United States Government to purchase arms and equipment for American soldiers and sailors, food and supplies for the American Army and Navy. The money is to be spent in America for those Americans who are fighting America's battles on land and sea.

Part of the money raised by the sale of Liberty Loan Bonds is to be loaned to our allies; this too is to be expended in America. It is to be spent for food and supplies for the armies of our allies fighting on our side on the various fronts in Europe. It is America's first contribution towards doing her part in the war we are engaged in.

It is billions for defense in the world-wide war Autocracy is waging against Democracy, but not one cent for tribute.

The government will avoid a lot of future trouble if it clamps the price regulation lid onto every article of home consumption. The farmer, the manufacturer and the laborer should be guaranteed a reasonable and just price for his toil, the consumer should be amply protected against gouging, and the speculator and price booster should be kicked out.

Fight, dig or buy a bond. Each is essential to the welfare of the country at this time.

OUTCLASSED

The Devil sat by the Lake of Fire, On a pile of sulphur kegs; His head was bowed upon his breast, His tail between his legs.

A look of shame was on his face, The sparks dripped from his eyes; He had sent his resignation To the throne up in the skies.

"I'm down and out," the Devil said; He said it with a sob, "There are others that outclass me, And I want to quit my job."

"Hell isn't in it with the land That lies along the Rhine; I'm a Has-Been and a Piker, And, therefore, I resign."

"Those ammunition slingers with Their bloody shot and shell, Know more about damnation Than all theimps of Hell."

"Give my job to Kaiser Wilhelm, And my army of the Rhine, Von Tirpitz or Hindenburg, Or some such child o'mine."

"I hate to leave the old home, The spot I love so well; I feel that I'm not up-to-date in the art of running Hell."

ROOKIES LEARN TWO BIG LESSONS

Discipline and How to Take Care of Their Bodies Taught in First Three Weeks

NO SPECIALIZED WORK YET

Actual War Work Will Receive Attention From Now on—Units to be Formed Soon

(By United Press.)

Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., June 5.—At the beginning of the third week of three months intensive training for officers for the new army today, the rookies had learned the two great lessons of a soldier: discipline—and how to take care of their own bodies. They know the rudiments of the drill, the manual of arms, signalling and have had a few days of target practice.

During the first two weeks a great deal of attention has been given to signalling. The boys put in about every spare minute trying to master the art of waving the flags. When they would line up in long rows, one facing the other, they appeared like great flocks of red and white birds. Working out the theory of learning one thing at a time and learning it well, all the men know perfectly the wig-wag system.

Actual war work will receive greater emphasis from the instructors from now on. More time will be given to target practice, the men spending most of the day on the ranges. Lessons will be given in trench digging, bomb throwing and the use of bayonet.

Specialized work will not start for two weeks yet. Then the officers in training will be divided into infantry and artillery companies and for the next two months, the instructions will deal entirely with work distinctive to these two branches of service.

It has been expected that training would be given to the cavalry also, but recent orders from the war department will probably result in instruction in this branch of the service being discontinued at the camp.

This Is Efficiency

(Chicago Tribune)

If Germany possesses any further ability to shock the sensibilities of mankind it is difficult to conceive what it is to be. We thought when the Lusitania was sunk that represented the extreme limit of brutality. More recently we have seen hospital ships loaded with wounded soldiers, unable to help themselves, sent to the bottom of the ocean.

The ruthless devastation of French territory threw a new light upon the German idea of culture, and the wanton destruction of some of the world's most beautiful cathedrals has still further enlightened us. The moral conditions engendered by the war gave us a little thrill.

But it all pales into insignificance when we read of the calculating manner in which the corpses of the soldier dead are hauled by the trainload to factories where they are converted into glycerine for the manufacture of nitro-glycerine or into lubricating oils, and the poor residue is employed as fertilizer.

Under the skillful manipulation of science, at the behest of war lords, nothing is permitted to go to waste but the souls of the dead and the moans of the dying. All else contributes to the prosecution of the most unholy war that ever scourged the earth.

The most simple and untutored savage respects his dead, not for what he can get out of it, but for what it has meant to him in companionship and love, and the fact that the lifeless clay once housed an immortal soul. Even these have neither the inclination nor the temerity to desecrate the deserted temple.

The shock to the finer sensibilities which the world has suffered at German hands is of itself sufficient crime to damn its authors forever, even if there were no other account to pay.

ELEVATORS ARE DESTROYED

(By United Press.)

Petrograd, June 5.—Forest fires in the Minsk region have already burned over 7,000 acres, destroying three million bushels of wheat and many elevators, according to word received today. The fires are believed to be of incendiary origin.

Whether there was loss of life has not been determined.

The workmen and soldiers journey home of the former minister of commerce, pleading with him to withdraw his resignation. He refused.

The workmen and soldiers jubilate today, complaining editorially against further issuance of paper money by the government and demanding that all war profits be confiscated.

them was a machine fired up as a Red Cross ambulance. Forty-nine Knights Templar, in full uniform, made a beautiful appearance. It is the first time members of this lodge participated in a public demonstration, but orders were issued several weeks ago that the old custom could be broken on occasions such as those which are recurring now. The Odd Fellows third degree team twenty-eight strong and in uniform—headed the Odd Fellows division. The Rebekahs had a delegation of twenty-six and members of the Odd Fellows lodge following numbered 66. Next came a small boy's wooden gun company of fourteen members, all carrying their guns proudly. The Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, marched in full dress uniform. Thirty-one of them were at the head of the K. of P. division, followed by twenty-six members of the subordinate lodge. Next came the Knights of Columbus, sixty of them and each carrying a flag. A boys drum corps followed. Fourteen foresters led the Woodmen's division. Each of the thirty-four Elks in line carried a flag. The Red Men had a delegation of twenty-nine and were followed by a score of children carrying an immense flag and the colored drum corps leading a delegation of colored citizens. The Boy Scouts, most of them in the Scout uniform, numbered fifty-four and bringing up the rear were fourteen girls dressed as

Red Cross nurses. "I feel certain," said Mr. Thomas in making an appeal for the Red Cross, "that there never was a meeting here of so full of vital interest to us as a county, as a state and as a nation. We know we are about to organize an army. The army of one million men to be enlisted and organized represents but one per cent of the population of the United States. We are not concerned about them, performing their duty. They will do whatever they are called upon to do. What about the other ninety-nine per cent?"

"It is even time enough now for us all to say, 'What can I do?' When you learn the answer you should do it. There is no agency presented in this emergency which can perform the service which the American Red Cross can."

"First of all, when these boys and others answer the call, there is an implied condition between the government and them that we who remain at home shall do what we can. That is why we are here tonight, to say to you (the men of Company B.) that we will go with you and stay with you. How? By enlisting in the Red Cross. It is your solemn and patriotic duty to enlist. If we can't go in person, we can go in spirit. The Red Cross is expecting great things of us because the American Red Cross wants to be prepared better than any nation in the world."

"The Red Cross now has seven or eight hundred thousand dollars worth of supplies ready now for our men. In addition, the American Red Cross is sending supplies to those of our allies who are in the most distress."

"I have never seen an audience," Mr. Thomas said in conclusion, "when we came together with one purpose and for one cause. When we join hands we are invincible and it is only our patriotic duty to join the Red Cross. When you have the opportunity, as you will have it tonight, do not hesitate or say no. Simply answer, 'Here is my dollar; take it as my share'—and it is a mighty small mite for any of us."

"That which we had hoped would never come has happened and is," declared Lieut. Dillworth, in a brief speech on volunteering. "This is not a Mexican fiasco, a South American revolution, but a war in which America stands as the last prop of a civilization it has taken years to build up. Hour by hour atrocities are being committed that we could never conceive of. We are the nation which must stand between the nation which does such things and civilization."

"What are you doing? Think it over. These boys here are giving the last thing a man can give—his life. You have joined the Red Cross you say. Commendable because the Red Cross is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war. You say you have bought a Liberty Bond. Very commendable, indeed, because men can not fight unless clothed, fed and armed. But these things do not win wars. Wars are won with blood—men's blood."

"Have you done your bit? You have not done it unless you have offered your life if it can be spared at home. It is simply a question of whether we have this fight in our own front yard or in the other fellows. If they win now, they will fight our children."

"You have here the nucleus of a fine company. They are under the care of officers you all know, men you respect. The thing for you who can be spared is to join the regular army or Company B. before you are conscripted."

An approaching thunder storm frightened many people away and made it very embarrassing for Mr. VanNuys when he began to speak. He complimented Rush county on its splendid show of patriotism.

"It has been my privilege," he said, "to attend many flag raisings and patriotic meetings in recent weeks, but I have not been at any so inspiring as this."

Mr. VanNuys recalled that it was the unanimous sentiment of the country that no one wanted war and that the government at Washington tried in every way possible to prevent it.

"And now we are engaged in a campaign of patriotism," he continued. "It is of necessity addressed to two classes. You are either an American or you are not an American. There is no middle ground."

Mr. VanNuys spoke briefly of the ways in which all classes of citizens

EFFICIENCY IN SHIPPING ASKED

E. E. Pratt, Chief of U. S. Bureau of Foreign Domestic Commerce, Sends Out Letter

TO TRADE ORGANIZATIONS

Urges Campaign to Bring About Loading and Unloading Cars Due to Shortage

A letter from E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the United States department of commerce, urging greater efficiency in shipping due to the freight car shortage, has been received by A. Bogue, secretary of the Rush County Business Men's association. A local campaign to bring about prompt loading and unloading and other changes are requested in the letter which follows:

The demand for freight cars at the present time is far beyond that of any previous period in our history. When our troops are actually in the field this demand will be greatly increased. The Car Service Commission of the American Railway Association is coordinating the traffic resources of the country in an effort to meet this demand, but it will be unable to do so without the help of all those interested.

It appears that a very large percentage of freight cars are sent out loaded only to the minimum capacity fixed in the tariffs of the carriers, although the maximum safe capacity of the car is in some cases twice this minimum. The bureau believes that a great improvement will follow if this situation is brought to the attention of shippers and others concerned, and it is pointed out to them that unless cars are loaded to the maximum and delays obviated there will not be enough cars to go around, with resulting hardships to all shippers.

You are urged, therefore to inaugurate a campaign in your locality for greater efficiency in freight shipping, including prompt loading and unloading. In such a campaign you may encounter difficulties in certain trades as a result of recognized equivalents in other units or carload lots. In such cases you should consider the advisability of modifying for a limited period, or for all time, these equivalents, many of which were formulated years ago, when the cars in use were considerably smaller than the majority of those in use today.

Should you decide to cooperate with the bureau and start such a campaign, the Bureau will be glad to receive information from time to time regarding the methods employed and the results attained by you. Suggestions as to further steps on the part of the Bureau will also be welcomed.

can serve in this crisis. He referred to the Red Cross and the Liberty Loan bonds. He explained fully the Liberty Loan, what it means, and what the money will be used for. Mr. VanNuys pointed out that only two counties in the state had oversubscribed and that Rush county's apportionment was $337,000, which is eight per cent of the bank resources of the county.

"And the reason your apportionment is so high," he said "is because you have so much money down here in Rush county. But as a native of Rush county, when I go back to Liberty Bond state headquarters tomorrow, I am going to tell them I am satisfied that Rush county will raise her apportionment."

Mr. VanNuys paid many deep compliments to the boys of Company B, and said he hopes the community would do its duty by them.

The stage was elaborately set for the meeting. Bruce Beck and Earl Osborn painted an appropriate background showing on one side the Rush county court house and the camp of Company B, and on the other side a picture of the good ship "Loyalty" and the words "One Nation—One Flag." There was also a picture of Uncle Sam and the words, "I want you."

Lafayette—Work has started on drilling six one-hundred foot wells for the Monon railroad. The company formerly used city water, paying about $8,000 a year for the privilege.

The Anderson Daily Bulletin gives a complete description of the wedding of Miss Dorothy Jackson of Anderson, who is well known to a large circle of friends in this city, having made frequent visits here, when she was the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Selman Webb. The wedding was beautiful in its simplicity and is described as follows:

An exceptionally pretty wedding occurred Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jackson, 2001 Main street, when their eldest daughter, Dorothy, was united in marriage to Ralph E. Moon of Chicago, by Rev. B. F. Brundage, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. As the bridal party entered the ceremony room and approached the altar of palms and ferns, Miss Kate Holliday, at the piano, played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The Presbyterian ring service was read and the bride was given away by her father. For her wedding gown the bride wore georgette crepe of a delicate blue and her flowers were white roses arranged as a shower bouquet.

Following the wedding a bridal breakfast was served and a color effect of pink and white was carried out. Pink and white roses were used in profusion through the house, and festoons of smilax formed a background of greenery.

At noon Mr. and Mrs. Moon left for Chicago, where they will reside and Mrs. Moon wore a traveling costume and hat to match.

The bride graduated from the An-

The last meeting of the Monday Circle of the year was held with Mrs. B. F. Miller, yesterday afternoon at her home in North Morgan street and proved to be one of the most delightful of the series. Twenty-two members entertained fifteen members of the Carey Club of Connerville with a well appointed luncheon. Large bowls of peonies, snapdragons, columbine and garlands of locust blossoms gave the rooms the effect of a spring garden and made a pretty setting for the guests.

The party was favored with an address by Earl Marlatt, on "New Poetry." In the talk Mr. Marlatt pointed out that the new poetry was more realistic than the old, and people had to know this before they could fully appreciate our modern poetry. He also said that the new poetry appealed to the mind through the senses rather than the heart. He made a plea for new poetry, and urged all to give it an equal chance with the old poetry. He read a poem entitled "War" and "Evangeline," both being very beautiful. Mr. Marlatt complimented Vanehell Lindsey on his work and also read some of his noteworthy poems.

He read some poems by "Emerson Martineau," a so-called new poet, and found they were most favored. When inquiries were made about the "new poet," Mr. Marlatt admitted that the name was fictitious and that he himself had written them. Mrs. Carl F. Behr and B. F. Miller sang two duets, and were accompanied on the piano by Miss Norma Smith.

Complimentary to their son Loren's eighth birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Winkler entertained with a dinner party today at their home in

TELEGRAPHERS NEEDED IN ARMY

Central Army Headquarters at Chicago Hakes Appeal for Enlistments to Signal Corps

RADIO OPERATORS, LINEMAN
Amateurs as Well as Professional
This Branch of Service is Opens to —Good Wages

(By United Press.)
Chicago, June 5.—Telegraphers, radio operators and linemen are needed in "unlimited numbers" by the Signal Enlisted Reserve Corps, Central Army Headquarters announced today. Several companies have been completed throughout the Central Department, but additional units must be recruited immediately to keep Uncle Sam in touch with his first army of 500,000.

This branch of the service is open both amateur and professional operators. Likewise to the man who is of electrical turn of mind. Electrical engineers, electricians, inside wire men, instrument repairers, etc., will find a special niche where they may continue in the line of work for which they are best adapted.

The amateur radio of Morse operator who has mastered the rudimentary principle of instruments, sending and receiving can, with training be developed into a valuable signalman. The fact that he is an amateur does not disqualify him. The same is true of men who have a smattering of electrical knowledge.

Candidates must not over-state their capabilities, however, when making application for enlistment. In the end they fool none but themselves, when they seek to hoodwink the government as to ability.

Because of its specialized nature, few people have more than a hazy idea just what functions the Signal Corps performs. Many a red-blooded youngster who is fitted for electrical work of some kind, passes up the Signal branch of the service because he believes he can see more real action in the infantry or artillery. When this same young man arrives at the first line trenches he is surprised to find radio and other signalmen already on the job, establishing communication with headquarters somewhere behind the lines. Had not the Marines already copy-righted the slogan, the Signal Corps might well lay claim to "First into action."

In addition to maintaining communication between various major units of a command and between one or more field armies, the signalman oft-times finds himself astride a tree limb close to the enemy, directing artillery fire several miles away. Great effort is made by the sharpshooter to "snipe" enemy signalmen. The rifleman knowing that every signalman put out of action, means the crippling, temporarily at least of one vital source of information to his opponent.

Thrills and opportunity for distinguished service aplenty may be found in the Signal Corps.

The rates of pay in the Signal Enlisted Reserve Corps follow: Master Signal Electrician, $81.00 per month; Sergeant, first class, $51.00; Sergeant, $44.00; Corporal, $36; Horseshoer, $38; Cook, $38; Private, first class, $33; Private, $30. Twenty percent of above scale is added for foreign service.

SUGAR SUPPLY WILL SOON BE EXHAUSTED

Food Administrator Herbert C. Hoover Says It Will Not Last Longer Than October

EFFECT IS UNDETERMINED

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 5.—According to information submitted to congress by Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator the sugar supply of the United States will be exhausted by the middle of October as there will be no large shipments to arrive before the middle of December.

"The outlook for sugar is very poor," said Hoover. "The Cuban crop may be a million and a quarter tons below normal. There is a scarcity of sugar owing to the decreased beet sugar production all over Europe."

What effect the sugar shortage will have on America is yet undetermined. The senate finance committee has already decided to encourage domestic sugar production by urging a repeal of that section of the tariff to refund those sugar importers whose product is exported out of this country.

GERMANS HAVE NO FEAR OF AMERICA

Say War Will Be Over And Indemnity Saddled on The United States Before She's in It

PRISONERS REFLECT VIEW

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(By United Press.)

With the French Armies, June 5.—The war will be over and a staggering indemnity saddled on the United States before she knows she is in it—according to the Prussian attitude today.

Prisoners reflect this view. For instance, a typical Prussian officer jeered at me contemptuously today as he stood inside a barbed wire prison fresh from the battle field where the Canadians had mauled his division into scraps.

"Before America starts, we will have starved England, France and Italy into submission and made peace with Russia, leaving you alone in the field," he said.

DON'T PAY THE PEDDLER

A big price for an inferior article when you can get a high-grade well-known, reliable government-proved article like STANDARD HOG REGULATOR from your dealer, who is here all the time to make good any claims and to protect his customers. The peddler is here today and gone tomorrow. He pays no taxes, leaves no money in the community, and when goods do not come up to his claims he is far away. Even if he had as good an article as STANDARD HOG REGULATOR, and no peddler has, you could not afford to buy from him.

Your farm is more valuable if you have a good town near by, and the peddler don't help build the town. But the best reason, after all, why you should use STANDARD is because it is the best.

Senreco
The double-service
tooth paste,
keeps teeth clean AND GUMS HEALTHY.

Keeping the gums healthy and the mouth sweet is very important to health; more teeth are lost through the loosening of the tissue that holds the teeth in place than from decay.

Dental science to-day demands that a tooth paste must keep the gums healthy as well as clean the teeth.

Senreco was formulated to meet this requirement. Hundreds of dentists are prescribing and using Senreco because they have found that it does measure up to that standard.

SENRECO IS A WONDERFUL CLEANSER.

In addition to its remedial properties Senreco is a wonderful cleanser; acts directly on the mucin film, the basis of tartar; leaves the mouth cool and clean-feeling. As some one has expressed it—Senreco gives one a new idea on mouth cleanliness.

Get a tube to-day at your druggists or toilet counter—enjoy the healthy, cleanly feeling its use gives your mouth and gums. Notice how brilliantly white Senreco makes your teeth. It performs this two-fold service for you and yet costs no more than the ordinary, old-fashioned tooth paste that simply cleans the teeth and leaves a pleasant taste—25 cents for a large 2 ounce tube.

WAS GREAT DEAL LIKE AN ELECTION

Exception Was That Men Registered With More Serious Manner Realizing Probabilities

EXPECT TOTAL OF 300,000

Many Employers Let Men Off From Work to Register Although Polls Are Open Tonight

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Men of Indiana between the ages of 21 and 31 registered today, as provided for under the provisions of the selective service act and under the provisions of President Wilson's proclamation.

It was a great deal like election day with the exception that men registered with a more serious manner and a realization of the greater and more far reaching probabilities of registering for war, compared with casting a ballot.

The official holiday was declared. Most companies allowed their men an opportunity during the day to go to the registering places. If they did not the men will have ample opportunity to register as the books will not be closed until 9 o'clock tonight.

The state was expected to register about 300,000 men, although the figures will probably fall considerably short of this number on account of the large number of conscription age who have already enlisted in the National Guard, regular army, or other military service and who are not required to register.

Those officers in training at Ft. Benjamin Harrison of the registration age, were required to sign up the same as other men, and provision was made for taking care of them by the Marion county registration board.

Because the registration work had been thoroughly organized through the work of Gov. Goodrich and Jesse Eschbach, state conscription officer little difficulty was anticipated. Anti-registration propaganda has not been distributed in this state to any extent and government authorities were expecting no outbreaks. However, they were amply well prepared to care for any trouble which would arise in the more thickly populated districts.

WILL NOT INTERFERE IN CHINA'S TROUBLE

Japan Will Keep Hands Off During Internal Disturbances, It Is Being Emphasized

NO DISORDER IS REPORTED

(By United Press.)

Tokio, June 5.—Japan's determination, at least until there is internal affairs, at least until there is some outbreak, was emphasized again in official quarters today.

According to word received here, no disorder has attended the cessation of eleven of China's eighteen provinces and the proclamation of a provincial government, although a rebel army was said to be marching towards Peking.

The revolting provinces are those under control of the military chiefs and their strength in men and arms apparently makes the fall of the old government certain.

STRIKERS IN COURT

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Further cases growing out of the labor troubles of the Brazil Clay Products company were heard in federal court before Judge A. B. Anderson today. Those who were arraigned were: Fred Norton, Fred Wagner and Thomas Tiffey, the latter two members of the Police force of Brazil. They were charged with contempt of court. Norton, it is alleged, assaulted four strike breakers at the Clay products company in violation of an injunction issued by Judge Anderson. The patrolmen are charged with failing to do their duty by not arresting Norton.

DRASTIC ACTION URGED IN REPORT

State Commission Recommends to Governor Coal Distributor Like Food Dictator

RESULT OF INVESTIGATION

Question Arises Whether Coal Operators Discriminate by Selling Cheaper to Railroads

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Drastic action to relieve the coal shortage in Indiana was recommended to Governor Goodrich by the public service commission today. The commission based its recommendations on a thorough investigation into conditions in the state and suggested plans which the governor might follow to remedy the situation.

It was suggested that the governor might appoint a coal distributor to have similar powers to those of a food dictator.

The commission stated that the price of Indiana coal has advanced from 100 to 400 per cent in six months, but that the wages of the majority of the consumers have not been materially increased.

The report declared there was plenty of coal in the state and plenty of labor to mine it but that coal mine operators complained that there was a car shortage.

In answer to this the commission stated that their investigation developed "beyond all controversy that coal was to be had and on quick delivery if the prices were paid."

Through co-operation with the railroads the car shortage condition is being met by the railroads and several of them are now reporting 100 per cent efficiency in the coal distribution, the report stated.

The cost of coal mining in the state is about $1.50 a ton; but railroads are purchasing their coal for $2 a ton, the report states. It points out that this raises the question whether this is not discrimination against the public in favor of the railroads.
